Martin's Dream

Imagine a world where we all belong,
Love is the key. Together we're strong.
All of our talents coming together as one,
When that day comes we know our job is done.

Together we stand hand in hand,
Dreaming of a new land-
where no matter your color, shape or size, when we work together we shall rise.

This is what Martin Luther King wanted-
He knew he could speak so we would be prompted.
With his words in our hearts, we will preach,
So that Martin's goal will soon be reached.

As the good doctor said, "Our lives begin to end the moment we become silent about things that matter",
Let us not forget these words,
Or our world will shatter.
